

Other Services

We can provide many other services associated with converting documents from one format to another. These include manual and automated indexing, optical character recognition, conversion of images from a legacy system to a new Enterprise Content Management System like our Datafiche™ and other customized offerings.

Whether you have an immediate need for imaging or microfilm hardware software or services, or just want to be informed on the latest developments in the electronic content management arena, please call us. We run several Informational Seminars each year and would be delighted to see you at our next one.
